Wayne Lohr Short Biography

The last 20 or so years Lohr played on and off with "The JJ Muggler Band". With him they made a couple of CDs and was inducted into the Louisiana Music Hall of Fame as part of the band. Lohr recorded the "Down II" record with Phil Anselmo, of Pantera fame and toured with a progressive country band called "Big Cat Daddy", from Baton Rouge La, for a couple years. While all this was going on, he performed most Sundays at the Salt Bayou Lounge for the "Chicken Drop". The past few years Wayne has played on Bourbon Street every Tuesday and Wednesday while he has been touring and recorded with "Big Al and the Heavyweights.
